The Orlando GuitarTown project is a public arts project featuring ten-foot tall fiberglass Gibson Les Paul model guitars and a series of regular size Epiphone showcase guitars artistically designed and painted by local and nationally acclaimed visual artists and placed throughout Orlando in front of city landmarks, sponsor locations and other popular destinations for several months. Each guitar sculpture will be partnered with a celebrity and will be backed by a corporate sponsor. The project is designed to unite the Orlando art, music, and business communities with an opportunity to raise proceeds for local charities. Presenting sponsor Gibson Guitar supports the Orlando GuitarTown project which is administered by the Gibson Foundation, the philanthropic arm of the company.
